QUESTION 1: DOES MY EDUCATIONAL BACKGROUND QUALIFY ME TO STUDY AT A GERMAN UNIVERSITY?

You are entitled to study at a German university if your prior secondary school leaving certificate is considered equivalent to the German 'Hochschulreife' or 'Abitur'. In case your university degree is accredited as a 'Bachelor' or 'Diplom' in Germany, you may also study in Germany.

In these cases, you hold the university entrance qualification, the so-called 'Hochschulzugangsberechtigung (HZB)'.

Who checks if my certificates and documents qualify me to study at Hochschule Düsseldorf?

The official verification is performed by uni-assist e.V., the University Application Service for international students. Hochschule Düsseldorf - University of Applied Sciences (HSD) itself does not verify whether your certificates entitle you to study in Germany.

German citizens can obtain accreditation for their foreign school leaving certificate from the district government (Bezirksregierung).

How can I find out whether I am entitled to study at a German university?

- Open the website www.anabin.kmk.org.
- Please select 'Schulabschlüsse mit Hochschulzugang' (School leaving certificates with university entrance qualification) on the left side and then the search function 'Suchen'.

- Find your home country at 'Bitte wählen Sie ein Land' (Select a country) and then click on your school or university graduation diploma/certificate.
- You can now determine whether you:
 - > can study in Germany directly ('Direkter Zugang') or
 - > need to attend a preparatory course before beginning your studies ('Feststellungsprüfung/Studienkolleg') or
 - > need to confirm one or several years of study in your home country.
- If you find the term 'fachorientierter Zugang' (subject-specific admission) next to your certificate/diploma rating, then you are entitled to study certain subjects only.

If you already studied at a university in your home country,

- please select the menu item 'Institutionen' (Institutions) and then the search function 'Suchen'.
- Select your home country as well as the city where you studied. Then select your university from the list that appears, or enter the name of your university into the search field.
- Check the status of your university: If it is H+, it means your university is accredited in Germany as a higher education institution.

DAAD gives hints on educational certificates from abroad at www.daad.de/en » Study & research in Germany » Plan your studies » Requirements.

The International Office advisory service can assist you with further questions on this topic.

I am uncertain about what I want to study, what can I do?

The Student Advisory Service (Zentrale Studienberatung, ZSB) will be happy to assist you in finding the right programme.

!! IMPORTANT INFORMATION!!

Your educational qualifications entitle you to study only certain subjects (subject-specific admission/fachorientierter Zugang), but you are now planning to study a different subject? Or you are already studying at a German university and want to change your programme?

In this case, it is necessary to attend a Studienkolleg that offers the core course (Schwerpunktkurs) required for the programme of your choice. Please see: 'Do I need to attend a preparatory course (Studienkolleg)?'

Be aware that if you change your programme, the official purpose of your residency in Germany changes as well! Please get in touch with your contact person at the local foreigners' authority (Ausländerbehörde) before changing your programme.

QUESTION 2: DO I NEED TO ATTEND A PREPARATORY COURSE ('STUDIENKOLLEG')?

You will need to attend a preparatory course called 'Studienkolleg', if your secondary school leaving certificate is not sufficient, to have direct access to German universities. Or if your admission is restricted to a specific subject area, but now you plan to study an entirely different subject. By completing the preparatory course, you can obtain the required university entrance qualification, which enables you to apply for programmes at German universities.

What do you do in a Studienkolleg?

A Studienkolleg prepares you systematically to study at a German university. It teaches language aspects as well as contents in specific subjects, depending on your future programme.

The Studienkolleg is typically structured to last ten months and end with the university entrance examination (Feststellungsprüfung).

The core courses (Schwerpunktkurse) M, T, W, G and S qualify you to study at all university types; with the core courses TI, WW, GD and SW you can only apply to universities of applied sciences.

Studienkollegs are often integrated into universities or universities of applied sciences. However, Hochschule Düsseldorf does not have a Studienkolleg.

Where do I find a suitable Studienkolleg?

There are only a few private, state-accredited Studienkollegs in North Rhine-Westphalia (NRW). These are situated in Bochum, Cologne, Mettingen and Paderborn, among others. The Studienkollegs in Cologne and Paderborn usually charge tuition fees.

Another possibility is to attend a Studienkolleg in another federal state and study at a university in NRW afterwards. The website www.studienkollegs.de provides you with a list of all Studienkollegs in Germany and further information.

Private preparatory courses for an external university entrance examination (Externe Feststellungsprüfung) are offered by different institutions in Bonn, Cologne and Dortmund.

What are the entry requirements for a Studienkolleg?

- ✓ German proficiency of no less than level B1
- ✓ According to www.anabin.kmk.org, your certificate/diploma qualifies you to attend a Studienkolleg

You will need to apply directly to the Studienkolleg and possibly pass an entrance exam to get admission to the Studienkolleg.

Which core course (Schwerpunktkurs) do I need for studying at Hochschule Düsseldorf?

Faculty of Architecture:	TI or T course
Faculty of Design:	GD or G course
Faculty of Electrical Engineering and Information Technology	TI or T course
Faculty of Mechanical and Process Engineering:	TI or T course
Faculty of Media:	TI or T course
Faculty of Social Sciences and Cultural Studies:	SW, W or G course
Faculty of Business Studies:	WW or W course

An overview of all programmes and the respective faculty can be found at www.hs-duesseldorf.de » English site » Prospective Students » Study Programmes.

!! IMPORTANT INFORMATION!!

Refugees

Many Studienkollegs, which usually charge tuition fees, offer scholarships for applicants who are refugees. Please contact the Studienkollegs for further information.

University entrance examination (Feststellungsprüfung) without attending a Studienkolleg

You have the option of participating in an 'External university entrance examination' (Externe Feststellungsprüfung) without first attending a Studienkolleg. The district government (Bezirksregierung) in Düsseldorf can provide further information on this topic.

Application

If you have completed a German Studienkolleg, please apply directly via uni-assist.

Core courses at Studienkollegs:

T – Course	For mathematical, technical, scientific and engineering subjects
TI – Course	For technical and engineering subjects
W – Course	For business, economic and social science subjects

QUESTION 3: CAN I CONTINUE MY STUDIES IN A HIGHER SEMESTER?

In certain cases, it is possible that courses completed at a university abroad can be counted as credits towards a bachelor's or master's degree at Hochschule Düsseldorf. You can then begin in a so-called 'higher semester' (höheres Fachsemester), so you do not have to restart your studies in the first semester.

You need to have gained sufficient credits to be admitted to the second, third, fourth, etc. semester respectively.

However, starting in a higher semester is not possible if the study time that you wish to have credited was required for your university entrance qualification (according to www.anabin.kmk.org).

For example:

Graduates of a Moroccan school leaving certificate (Baccalauréat de l'Enseignement Secondaire) must have studied successfully for one year in their current field of study in order to start directly at German universities. This first year of study cannot be counted as credits towards a programme at Hochschule Düsseldorf. Only further periods of study could be accepted.

In a first step, you can check whether the study credits you wish to have recognised are offered at Hochschule Düsseldorf for your desired programme. You can refer to the respective examination regulations and module handbooks for this purpose. They can be found on the faculty's websites.

In which cases do I have to apply for a higher semester at uni-assist?

- You have a foreign university entrance qualification and your previous study credits were earned at a foreign university.

In which cases do I have to apply for a higher semester directly at Hochschule Düsseldorf?

- You have a German or foreign university entrance qualification; your previous study credits were earned at a German university and you now wish to transfer into the same subject at Hochschule Düsseldorf (change of study venue/ Studienortwechsel).
- You have a German university entrance qualification and your previous study credits were earned at a foreign university.

!! IMPORTANT INFORMATION !!

Certain programmes have restrictions for admission to a higher semester. It is therefore possible that no vacancies are available for higher semesters in these programmes. This can only be established after the application deadline!

An applicant for a higher semester has to meet the same admission requirements as an applicant for the first semester (e.g. internship, aptitude test, etc.).

Whether you can be admitted for a higher semester is individually determined on the basis of your credentials – this applies equally to German and international applicants.

QUESTION 4: DO I HAVE ADEQUATE GERMAN PROFICIENCY?

For all degree programmes (except for the master's programme in Mechanical Engineering) at the HSD, you must provide proof of extensive German language skills with an appropriate certificate.

Which language certificates will be accepted?

The required level of German language knowledge needed to study at the HSD depends on your degree programme.
For some degree programmes, the B2 level is sufficient; for others, you have to provide proof of the C1 level.

Please find out about the language requirements for your desired degree programme before applying.

You will find the accepted certificates in the HSD enrolment regulations.

The following certificates, for example, are accepted at the corresponding levels:

- ✓ TestDaF
- ✓ DSH
- ✓ DSD
- ✓ Feststellungsprüfung (university entrance examination) from a German Studienkolleg
- ✓ Certificates from Goethe Institute
- ✓ Telc certificates
- ✓ Certificates from Sprachforum Heinrich Heine
- ✓ Certificates from IIK (Institut für Internationale Kommunikation e. V.)

Other language certificates (e.g. internal language examinations from other universities, C1 from Hartnackschule, or DAF-test from Dolmetscher Institut Münster or a German literature degree) will not be accepted!

When in doubt, please contact the language institute of your choice or the International Office at Hochschule Düsseldorf.

Please note: You are not required to submit the German certificate along with your application, but at the time of your enrolment (Immatrikulation). Please submit the certificate no later than September 30 (when enrolling for winter semester) or March 31 (when enrolling for summer semester).

QUESTION 5: DO I MEET THE SPECIFIC ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS?

Many programmes at Hochschule Düsseldorf have additional admission requirements that need to be met, e.g., an artistic-design aptitude test, an internship, a minimum grade, or additional language proficiency (English).

Which programmes require a prior internship?

Some programmes at HSD require a relevant internship or practical experience. Please check the respective programme website for detailed information on this requirement. Links are provided in 'Helpful Links'.

The internship certificate must be submitted with your enrolment documents and no later than September 30 (for winter semester intake) or March 31 (for summer semesters intake).

The internship certificate must be uploaded with your other enrolment documents. If the certificate is issued in a foreign language, it must be translated into German by a state-certified translator. Information on translating documents can be found under question 9: Which form must the submitted documents be in?

Which programmes require passing an aptitude test?

An artistic-design aptitude test is required for B.Eng. Audio & Video as well as for all programmes in the faculty of Architecture and Design.

Please note that you must register for the aptitude test at Hochschule Düsseldorf and Robert Schumann Hochschule (for B.Eng. Audio & Video) directly before officially applying via uni-assist. You have to pass the test first to be able to apply successfully.

If you have further questions concerning the aptitude test and/or the contents of the programme, we also recommend making an appointment for a counselling with special focus on the programme and its requirements. For this, please contact the Faculty of Architecture and the Faculty of Design directly.

Which programmes require proficiency in English?

The programmes that require certified English language proficiency are: International Management (B.A), Transforming Digitality (M.A.) all programmes in the faculty of Architecture, all master programmes in the faculty of Business Studies and all master programmes in the faculty of Mechanical and Process Engineering.

Which certificates are accepted and until when these have to be provided, can be found on the programme websites and in the examination regulations. Please see 'Helpful Links'.

!! IMPORTANT INFORMATION !!

For some master programmes further admission requirements will be checked using special additional application forms.

The respective form is available for download during the application process in the uni-assist portal.

You need to fill out the form and upload it together with the documents mentioned in the form to uni-assist.

Special additional application forms need to be handed in for the following master programmes:

M. A. Empowerment Studies,

M. A. Culture, Aesthetics, Media,

M. A. Social Work and Educational Science with a Focus on Psychosocial Counselling,

M. A. Communication, Multimedia and Market Management.

QUESTION 6: WHICH SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS DO I HAVE TO CONSIDER WHEN APPLYING FOR AN ADMISSION RESTRICTED BACHELOR PROGRAMME?

With the exception of a few programmes, the admission procedure for all admission-restricted (NC) bachelor programmes at HSD is organised via the dialogue-oriented service procedure (DoSV). The DoSV coordinates the allocation of study places for admission restricted bachelor programmes for all participating universities.

The DoSV is an additional, mandatory step in the application process, aiming to optimise the allocation of study places.

Do I have to participate in the DoSV?

You have to participate in DoSV if you are interested in an admission-restricted bachelor programme and you are applying for the first semester.

If you are applying for a higher semester, you do not have to participate in the DoSV.

How can I participate in the DoSV?

Register at www.hochschulstart.de.

- Write down your BID (applicant identification number) and BAN (applicant authentication number), which you will receive after the registration.
- Enter your BID and your BAN when applying via uni-assist or HSD application platform (see question 8: 'How do I apply?').

- Prioritise your application according to your preference during the coordination phase (by 22 January for summer semester intake and 22 July for winter semester intake). If you do not actively rank your applications, they will be prioritised based on the date of submission. Prioritising your application is significant in the coordination phase and therefore plays a decisive role in the admission process.
- The coordination phase starts after the application deadline. Admission offers can be sent during this phase. Based on the coordination rules, admission offers can automatically translate into an admission with an enrolment deadline. Missing the enrolment deadline means you losing your admission and being completely and irrevocably excluded from DoSV for that semester.
- Hence, check your entire mailbox (including your spam folder!) and your user account on the HSD application platform regularly!
- Caution: If you accept an admission, all other applications and admission offers from other universities will be automatically deleted!
- If by the end of the coordination phase you have not received any admission offer, you will be invited (via email) to participate in the coordinated move up phase, in which vacant places are offered by participating universities.

WHAT ARE THE COORDINATION RULES?

Rule 1 (the coordination phase)

Situation: You have exactly one active application in the DoSV process and you receive an admission offer for this application.

Result: The admission offer is immediately and automatically converted into an admission.

Rule 2 (the coordination phase)

Situation: You have several active applications in the DoSV process and receive an admission offer for all applications.

Result: The highest prioritised application is automatically converted into an admission. The lower-prioritised applications are automatically eliminated.

Rule 3 (the coordination phase)

Situation: You have several active applications in the DoSV and more than one application has an admission offer but at least one application does not yet have an admission offer.

Result: The lower-prioritised admission offers are automatically eliminated.

Rule 4 (only in coordinated moving up phase)

Situation: You have received an offer of admission in a coordinated moving up phase.

Result: The admission offer is automatically converted into an admission. In this case, prioritisation is not the deciding factor.

Which documents do I need to send?

You do not need to send any documents to Hochschulstart.

What are the application fees for the DoSV?

You do not need to pay any fees to participate in the DoSV.

Which programmes at HSD are coordinated via DoSV?

The list of programmes currently coordinated via DoSV is available here:

<https://www.hs-duesseldorf.de/studium/studieninteressierte/dosv>

!! IMPORTANT INFORMATION !!

Please read the information about the DoSV, which can be found on the websites of Hochschule Düsseldorf and Hochschulstart, carefully. Also pay attention to the application deadlines.

Check your entire mailbox (including spam folder) and your accounts at Hochschulstart and uni-assist/ Hochschule Düsseldorf regularly during the entire application process.

The DoSV process is not required if you are applying for a higher semester.

QUESTION 9: WHICH FORM MUST THE SUBMITTED DOCUMENTS BE IN?

Unless the original documents are officially issued in German or English, you need a certified translation of the foreign language certificates into either German or English.

Please upload your documents to the HSD eCampus portal. Certified copies are generally no longer required. However, HSD reserves the right to randomly request for certified copies of your application and enrolment documents.

Standards for Certified Translations

We accept translated certificates from:

- ✓ within Germany: sworn translators,
- ✓ the responsible department of the issuing school or higher education institution,
- ✓ outside Germany: institutions authorised to produce sworn translations or translations accepted by court.

uni-assist cannot accept translations from translation agencies, which are not listed as sworn translators.

Standards for the Language of Certificates

Submit copies of your certificates in their original language and of their translation into German or English.

Does your country officially issue certificates not only in your original language, but also in German or English? Then you do not need to submit a translation.

QUESTION 11: WHAT TYPE OF VISA DO I NEED TO ENTER GERMANY?

If you wish to come to Germany as a full-time student, you need a national visa (German: nationales Visum).

There are different types of visa that prospective students can apply for. You get a visa for a limited period depending on the purpose of residence in Germany:

- Visa for orientation concerning studies at a German university ('Studienbewerbervisum')
- Visa for participation in a German language course in order to prepare for university studies ('Sprachkursvisum zum Studienzwecke')
- Visa for study purposes ('Studiervisum')

These three visa types can be converted into a residence permit in Germany at the local foreigners' authority (Ausländerbehörde). For this, please visit the local foreigners' authority as soon as possible after your arrival in Germany.

Caution! The following visa types cannot be converted into a residence permit in Germany:

- Tourist visa
- Visitor visa
- Business visa
- Language course visa without intent to study

If you enter Germany with one of these visa types, you will be required to return to your home country to request a new visa for study purposes.

TIP

The final notice issued by uni-assist indicating that your application was forwarded to HSD will generally be accepted as a confirmation of your application by the German embassies or consulates.

HSD does not issue preliminary certifications, or conditional admissions. The admission and rejection letters are sent out several weeks after the application deadline.

QUESTION 12: HOW MUCH DOES IT COST TO STUDY IN DÜSSELDORF?

Does Hochschule Düsseldorf charge tuition fees?

At the moment Hochschule Düsseldorf does not charge tuition fees. You are merely required to pay a semester fee, which consists of fees for the Studierendenwerk, the student representatives and the semester ticket. With the semester ticket, you can use all means of public transport throughout North Rhine-Westphalia (NRW).

What will my monthly expenses be?

You monthly expenses largely depend on your personal needs. The biggest part of the monthly expenses for students is usually the rent, which amounts to one third of the total living expenses.

German students spend approx. EUR 1114 per month for the following items:

Rent	410,- EUR
Food	198,- EUR
Clothing	46,- EUR
Study materials (books etc.)	31,- EUR
Travel expenses (car/ public transport)	89,- EUR
Health insurance, medical expenses	100,- EUR
Communication (telephone, internet etc.)	31,- EUR
Sports, recreation, cultural events	65,- EUR
Other expenses	144,- EUR

How can I finance my studies?

1. Part-time job

Many students finance their studies with a part-time job. Students from EU/EWR-countries generally have free access to the German labour market.

All students from a non-EU-country may only work 120 days or 240 half days per year. This does not apply to employment as a student or research assistant at a university. So these kinds of jobs can be carried out in addition to the 120/240 days.

2. Scholarships

You have the possibility to apply for different scholarships. You can use the scholarship database published by the German Academic Exchange Service (Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst, DAAD) that offers various scholarship opportunities through DAAD or political and business-oriented foundations.

The requirements for a successful scholarship application vary from programme to programme. The following criteria are generally taken into account:

- previous academic and examination performance, as well as special scientific expertise
- general personal characteristics

HSD offers a scholarship, the 'Studienabschluss-Stipendium', for international students, who are working on their final theses.

In addition, HSD awards the 'Deutschland-Stipendium' to ambitious and outstanding students of all nationalities.
